

C Assignments

Arrays:

1. Write a program to enter values in Array of N elements and display them in reverse order.
2. Write a program to Fill the array with 10 numbers and display them in ascending order.
 - use rand() function to generate numbers.
3. Write declare two arrays for one for item codes and the other for item price. read 10 item codes and their prices. Calculate total cost and average cost and display.
4. Write a program fill the array of N elements with random numbers, display even no's and odd numbers separately with their index numbers.
5. Write a program fill the array of N elements with prime numbers and display them along with their index numbers.
6. Write a program to store values in two arrays and add values of both arrays into 3rd array.
7. Write a program to store 10 numbers then print occurrence of each number.